Section 4: Evaluation Criteria

The Government intends to make one award as a result of this solicitation. The Government reserves the right to make no awards. Award will be made based on a best value tradeoff approach. All phases of the evaluation are cumulative. All technical factors when combined are significantly more important than price. Technical factors are listed below in descending order of importance.

The Government reserves the right to make award based on initial submissions or to hold negotiations during any phase of the procurement.

4.1 Review

Proposals will be screened for compliance with all submission requirements as detailed in the solicitation, including proof of FedRAMP Moderate certification. Proposals that do not meet the compliance requirements may be eliminated from further consideration.

4.2 Phase 1: Corporate Experience (Volume II)

Corporate experience will be evaluated on the extent to which the Offeror demonstrates recent and relevant corporate experience in alignment with the size, scope, and complexity to the requirements in the SOO and SOO attachments. Areas for alignment that may result in a higher rating include, but are not limited to volume, transactions, coordination with interagency/multi-level government stakeholders, user- and customer-driven e-commerce solution, evidence of end user satisfaction, and delivery of an integrated solution.

4.3 Phase 2: Virtual Oral Presentation and On-the-Spot Demonstration (Volume N/A)

The virtual oral presentation and on-the-spot demonstration will be evaluated on the extent to which the proposed solution/approach to address the SOO and SOO attachments, including the extent to which the the solution addresses the prompts given.

4.4 Phase 3: Technical Approach (Volume III)

This volume will be evaluated on the extent to which the Offeror presents a clear understanding of the R1S mission, objectives, and constraints as defined in the SOO and SOO attachment, and the extent to which the proposed solution, methodology, and technical innovations will contribute to successful project implementation. The technical approach will also be evaluated on the extent to which the Offeror is likely to achieve the performance objectives described in the SOO.

4.5 Phase 3: Management and Staffing (Volume IV)

This volume will be evaluated on the extent to which the Offeror's management approach, organizational structure, staffing plan, and key personnel qualifications are likely to successfully achieve the objectives. This includes how the Offeror will integrate subcontractors and the framework for program oversight, decision-making, and escalation procedures. The Management Approach will also be evaluated on the extent to which risks will be identified, tracked, and mitigated throughout contract execution. The Staffing Plan will also be evaluated on the extent to which staffing levels and skill mixes will meet the requirements. This volume will also be evaluated for the extent to which Key Personnel will be able to successfully execute the Offeror's technical approach. Personnel with federal recreation knowledge and experience may be evaluated more favorably.

4.6 Phase 3: Past Performance (Volume V)

This volume will be evaluated on the extent to which the Offeror's past performance demonstrates a positive record of performance. Three aspects of past performance will be evaluated: recency, relevancy, and quality. Past performance will be determined to be recent if the performance involves work performed within the five years prior to this solicitation being issued. The past performance will be determined to be relevant if the performance involves work that is the same or similar in nature, size, and complexity. The past performance quality will include an assessment of CPARS evaluations or PPQs submitted. Additionally, the Government may evaluate information obtained from any other sources.

In the case of offerors for which there is no information on past contract performance or where past contract performance information is not available, the Offeror may not be evaluated favorably or unfavorably on the factor of past contract performance. In this case, the offeror's past performance is unknown and assigned a performance adjectival rating of "Neutral."

Although the government may not rate an offeror that lacks recent, relevant past performance favorably or unfavorably with regard to past performance, the government may determine that a "Satisfactory" past performance rating is worth more than a "Neutral" past performance rating in a best value tradeoff.

4.7 Phase 3: PWS and QASP (Volumes VI and VII)

Each volume will be evaluated on the extent to which the Offeror's PWS and QASP present specific, measurable, and achievable tasks, deliverables, and performance metrics and reasonable oversight to ensure success.

4.8 Phase 3: Price (Volume VIII)

This volume will not receive a rating. Pricing will be evaluated for fairness and reasonableness. Price realism may also be conducted. For large business Offerors, the Government will assess the Offeror's Small Business Subcontracting Plan for consistency with USDA goal and the Offeror's ability to achieve their proposed plan. Small Business Subcontracting Plans inconsistent with USDA goals will make an Offer ineligible for award.
